Background

On May 7, 2008, at 2:00 p.m., Operator Brian D'Oliveira was operating his streetcar at the intersection of Broadview and Dundas, when he heard a customer choking. Operator D'Oliveira secured his vehicle and immediately notified CIS. He then proceeded to the customer who was choking and began to apply the Heimlich Manoeuvre. This seemed to help the customer and she began to breathe easier. Operator D'Oliveira then assisted the woman to a seat and provided her with water. The woman refused further medical aid and continued on her journey.
